Unless otherwise stated all data referred to are seasonally adjusted and depict the underlying trend. The X12 ARIMA monthly seasonal adjustments include trading days and leap years. Unadjusted data are located in tables 3A to 3D. There is a step change in the data between 2010 and 2011 following a change in the reporting population. Average transaction values are based on three-month rolling averages, while growth rates are based on twelve-month rolling periods.

* As there are insufficient online data series collected to apply X12 ARIMA seasonal adjustment, the underlying trend is determined using linear regression. This allows an estimation of the likely scale of seasonal impacts to be made until there are sufficient data (3 years) to use a recognised method of seasonal adjustment.

Introduction

Payment card spending amounted to £51.1 billion in August, up by 0.5% on July. Spending online grew by 1.1% to £11.5 billion; representing 22.4% of total card spending, up from 20.8% in August 2014. The number of purchases also increased and reached 1.1 billion transactions, up by 0.4%. The number of purchases made via the internet rose by 1.4% to reach 130 million, accounting for 11.8% of total card purchases, up from 10.7% a year ago. Factors driving overall growth include continuing improvement in economic performance alongside a 2.0% increase in real household disposable income¹ between the first and second quarter of 2015, followed by positive growth in consumer confidence².

Annual growth rates

In August payment card spending grew at an annual rate of 6.6%, down from 6.7% in July and 7.8% a year ago. The deceleration in annual spending growth may be driven in part by record low inflation, which has been virtually unchanged for the last seven months. The annual UK consumer price index slipped back to 0% in the year to August 2015³, down from 0.1% in July, mainly driven by falling transport costs along with smaller increases in clothing than a year ago⁴. The coldest August in the UK in three years⁵, prompting an increased number of Britons to head abroad for their summer holiday, might be another factor that could, in part be attributed to the slowdown in domestic spending.

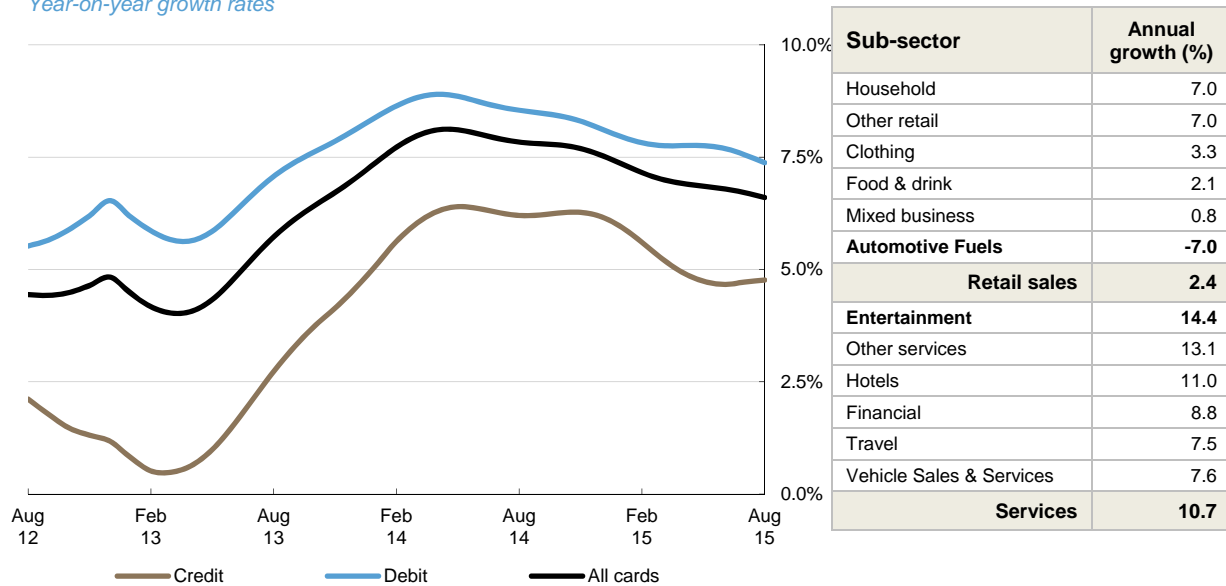

Annual payment card spending growth in the service sector continued to exceed that in retail sales with registered growth rates of 10.7% and 2.4% respectively. Within the sector, the entertainment sub-sector grew the most at 14.4%, while the only decrease was recorded in automotive fuels which registered a decline of 7.0%.

Meanwhile, the annual growth rate in the number of purchases at 9.6% continued to outstrip that of spending, highlighting a consumer preference to use cards more frequently for lower value payments. This trend was also evident within the digital space where the number of online purchases expanded by 20% on a year ago, comparing to an increase of 14% in spending.

Average transaction values

The ATV on all payment cards increased slightly by 2p to £46.37 in August and compares to £47.55 a year ago. The ATV in retail sales declined by 3p to £32.44, compared to the ATV for services rising by 1p to £74.90. Within the merchant sectors the largest decrease came from the financial services sub-sector, which recorded an ATV fall of 86p during the month, while hotels registered the largest increase of 10p.

The ATV on all payment cards via the online channel amounted to £85.27 in August, down from £86.03 in July, and compares to £93.71 a year ago. Meanwhile, the average purchase value made in a face-to-face environment decreased by 27p to £40.42. In contrast, the ATV for contactless purchases increased by 15p to £7.12 and is expected to climb further after the maximum limit increase from £20 to £30 on 1 September 2015.

Despite this recent uptick, there has been a consistent trend evident since 2011 of a continuously declining average transaction value (ATV) on payment cards, driven by a number of factors such as recently absent inflation and falling oil prices⁶. Another factor has been the continued migration of low value cash payments to cards that has been reinforced by the growth of contactless payments, accounting for 8.3% of total card purchases in August, up from 2.7% a year ago. There has also been downward pressure on ATVs as a result of the ongoing supermarket price wars⁷.

Spending by sector – retail sales and services

The number of transactions within the retail sector increased by 1.9 million to 740 million, with the corresponding spend rising by £40 million to £24.0 billion. Meanwhile, the number of transactions in the services sector grew by 2.3 million to 361 million, corresponding to a rise in spending of £176 million to £27.0 billion.

The highest increases in retail spending came from the household and other retail sub-sectors, where spending amounted to £3.8 billion and £3.9 billion respectively. The strengthening housing market⁸ was likely the main driver of sustained growth of £7 million in the household sub-sector. The major contributors to growth of £20 million in the other retail sub-sector were sports shops and cosmetic stores.

The largest growth within the services sector was registered at financial services, which registered an increase of £84 million to £6.2 billion, reinforced by a rise in spending at security brokers and dealers. The travel sub-sector was also a strong contributor to growth after increasing by £51 million to £4.0 billion. Other services was the only sub-sector in services which registered a decline in August after decreasing by £9 million, mainly due to reduced spending on government services.

Spending by merchant categories (not seasonally adjusted)

Along with growth in spending at household, sports stores and security brokers, there were also significant increases at a number of other merchants during the month. The strongest increase in spending was recorded in educational establishments, indicating the looming start of the new school year. There were also notable rises in spending at merchants providing leisure and recreational activities such as aquariums, amusement parks and tourist attractions, which coincided with the last month of the traditional summer holiday season. In contrast, other travel related merchants such as foreign currency and travellers cheques distributors as well as travel agents registered decreases in spending when compared to July. The largest percentage decrease was recorded in spending for tax preparation services followed by tax payments.

Spending online (not seasonally adjusted)

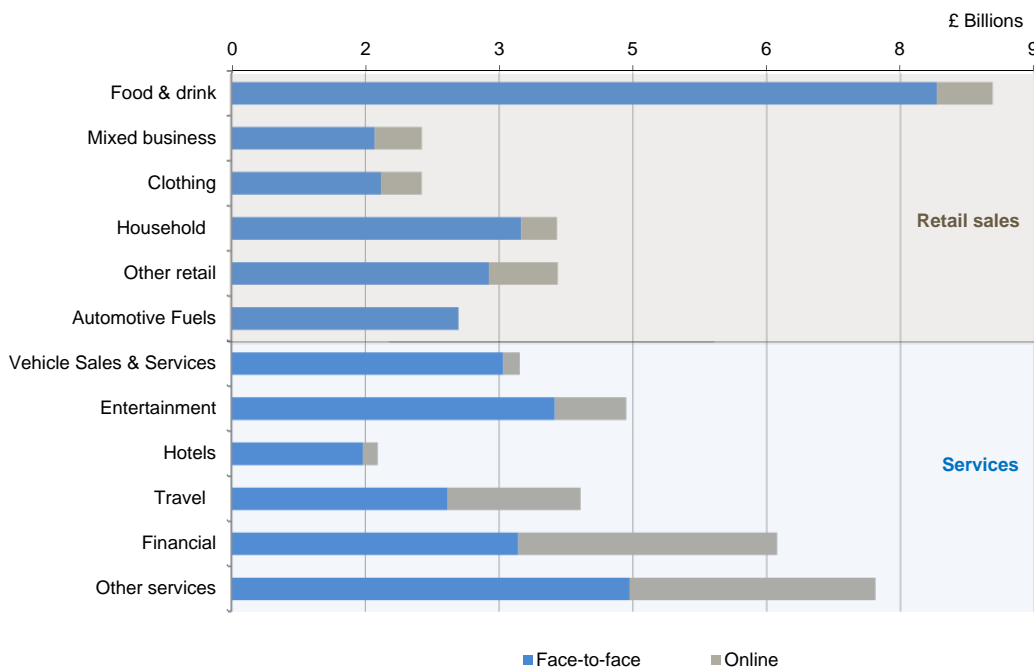

In August e-commerce continued to be more prevalent within the services sector where 31% of total spending was made via the internet, while just 12% of retail spending was online. In volume terms entertainment accounted for the highest number of total purchases made via the internet with 25%, while in value terms financial services led the way and amounted to 26% of total online spending.

Financial services continued its dominance as the most popular sub-sector, where online spending reached 47% of total amount spent (up from 46% a year ago), followed by other services with 38% (up from 36%). Within the merchant categories, timeshares registered the highest share of online spending (86%), followed by catalogues (83%) and record shops (82%).

In contrast, the online market for buying groceries was comparatively smaller – only 7% of total food & drink spending occurred via the internet, up from 5% in August 2014. The lowest share was recorded in the vehicle sales & services sub-sector, where just 5.7% of spending was made online, while virtually all spending on automotive fuels occurred in the face-to-face environment. Similarly, consumers typically shop in-store at merchants such as laundry & cleaning services, pubs and veterinary services, where online spending accounted for just 0.8%, 1% and 1.6% respectively.

Payment card spending within national retail sales

Retail sales form a significant part of household spending in the UK and data from merchants show increasing use of payment cards over many years. The percentage share of retail sales (including automotive fuels)¹⁰ accounted for by payment cards in August increased to 76.4%, up 0.3 percentage points on July, with debit and credit card splits of 52.3% and 24.1% respectively. This trend was also reflected in other sub-sectors such as food & drink and automotive fuels. The share of spending within food & drink accounted for by cards rose to 72.0%, while the majority of expenditure on automotive fuels was accounted for by payment cards at 90.0%.
