With effect of January 2014 the methodology used for seasonal adjustment - using X12 ARIMA - was changed. Trading days and leap years have been incorporated into the monthly seasonal adjustment process. Unless otherwise stated all data referred to are seasonally adjusted. Unadjusted data are located in tables 3A to 3D. There is a step change in the data between 2010 and 2011 following a change in the reporting population. Average transaction values are based on three-month rolling averages, while growth rates are based on twelve-month rolling periods.

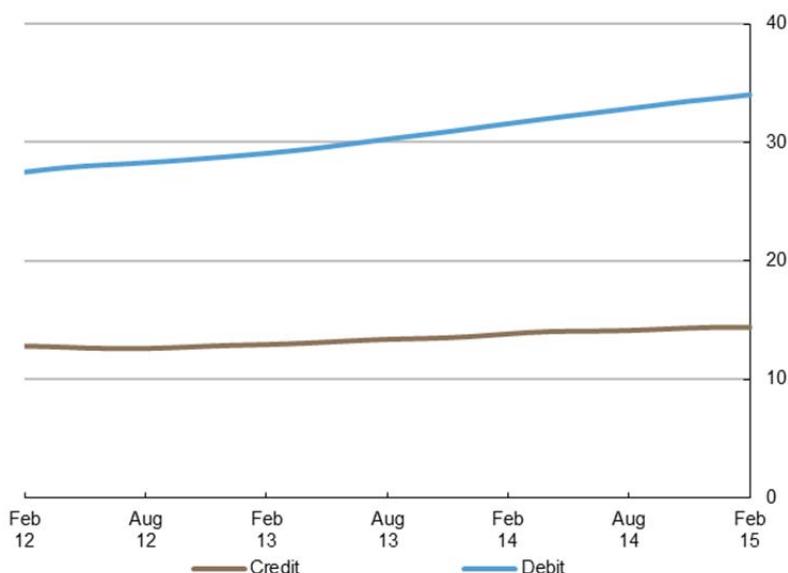

Introduction

Payment card spending increased by 0.8% to £49.6 billion in February, which was £0.4 billion above the level recorded in January. This growth has mainly been driven by the improving economy coupled with higher wage growth¹, increasing the level of household disposable income for consumption spending.

The number of purchases rose by 4.4 million to reach a record monthly total of just over 1.05 billion. The main contributors to the growth in the number of transactions have been the ongoing migration of low value cash payments to cards, enhanced by contactless and online spending. The number of contactless purchases accounted for 4.6% of total purchases, up from 4.0% a month ago. The corresponding proportion for online was 11.3%, down from 12.3% in January.

Annual growth rates

Growth in payment card spending continued to slowdown, though debit card spending still grew by 7.7%, while credit card spending increased by 5.6%. This deceleration in growth has been driven by falling general price inflation. The latest figures showed annual consumer price inflation at a record low of 0% for the second consecutive month², down from 0.3% in January, and compares to 1.7% in February 2014. The downward effect on the price index was mainly driven by reduced prices on food³.

The robust growth of the number of purchases evident in the last three years continued into 2015. The annual growth rate of purchases continued to exceed that of values, highlighting a growing consumer preference of more frequent use of cards for lower value payments. During February, the annual number of purchases grew by 9.8%. Furthermore, the annual growth in the service sector continued to outstrip that of retail sales. The service sector expanded by 10.2%, more than double the growth of spending within retail, which increased by 4.0%. Growth within the service sector has been particularly strong in entertainment, travel and other services.

Average transaction values

The average transaction value (ATV) on all payment cards remained unchanged at £46.92. Within the sectors, the ATV in retail sales declined by 24p to £32.64, while the ATV for services rose by 31p to £77.54. There has been a consistent trend over the last three years with higher growth rates in volumes relative to values, resulting in declining ATVs. This sustained decline is mainly driven by the ongoing migration of low value cash transactions towards payment cards alongside the increasing acceptance and usage of contactless cards, including strong growth on the Transport for London network⁴.

Within the digital space the average transaction values tend to be higher than in the face-to-face environment; however, the downward trend is also evident. The ATV on all payment cards via the online channel amounted to £103.62 in February – more than double the ATV via all channels.

Spending by sector – retail sales and services

The number of transactions within the retail sector increased by 1.5 million to 716 million, with the corresponding spend rising by £34 million to £23.4 billion. The majority of the increase in spending was in the food & drink and household sub-sectors, reaching £9.0 billion and £3.7 billion respectively. Spending in the automotive fuels category declined for the sixth consecutive month after falling by £34 million to £2.6 billion.

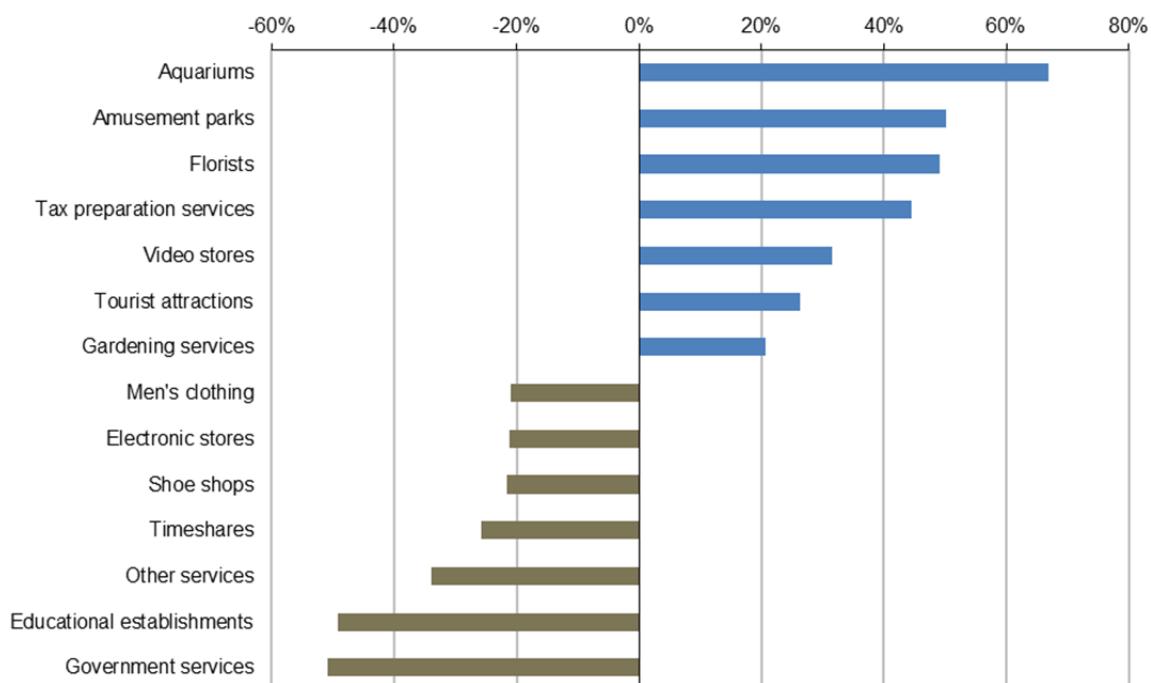

Meanwhile, the number of transactions in the services sector grew by 2.9 million to 336 million, corresponding to a rise in spending of £352 million to £26.2 billion. A major contributor of growth was the other services sub-sector, which recorded an increase of £215 million to £8.0 billion. Entertainment also remained a strong contributor to growth after increasing by £23 million to £4.1 billion, mainly driven by strong growth in spending at restaurants.

Spending by merchant categories – retail sales and services (not seasonally adjusted)

In February the largest increase in spending was evident at merchants offering recreational services such as aquariums, amusement parks and tourist attractions. The growth in leisure activities can be attributed to the half term holiday. There was a notable increase in spending at florists most likely linked to Valentine's Day. Gardening services also expanded considerably, mainly driven by seasonal changes, with households and businesses starting to prepare for spring. Meanwhile, spending on educational establishments and government services recorded the largest decreases in spending.

Payment card spending online (not seasonally adjusted)

A growing number of consumers are going online for shopping and entertainment as online services tend to be less time consuming, more convenient and often cheaper. Shopping on the move using mobile devices is becoming increasingly common. The number of card purchases made online amounted to 11.3% of the total card purchases in February, with corresponding online spending accounting for 24.4% of total card expenditure.

Within the services sector 20% of purchases were made via the internet, while 7% of retail sales were online. The most prominent sub-sector for online shopping was entertainment, accounting for 29% of the total number of online purchases in February, up from 27% in January, while the highest proportion of online spending was registered in other services, reaching 31%. Financial services was also a popular choice accounting for 7% of online volumes and 26% of values. In addition, within the sub-sectors, government services, airlines and tax payments accounted for 34% on all online spending during the month.

Payment card spending within national retail sales

The payment card share of total retail sales (including automotive fuels)⁶ amounted to 74.5% during February, with a split of 51.0% by debit cards and 23.5% by credit cards. The share of spending within food & drink accounted for by payment cards stood at 70.5% up from 64.3% a year ago. In comparison to food & drink, nearly all expenditure on automotive fuels was accounted for by payment cards at 87.1%, a figure that compares with 84.7% a year ago. These trends reflect the increasing use of cards over cash within the retail space, driven by new technology and the continuous change in consumer habits alongside the underlying improvement in the economy.

1 There was a step change in 2011 due to a change in reporting population

2 With effect of January 2014 the seasonal adjustment methodology using X12 ARIMA was reviewed and changed. Trading days and leap years have been incorporated into the monthly seasonal adjustment process.

3 Automotive Fuels data is effective from January 2010. Data shown pre 2010 are for growth trend purposes only; these data are excluded from totals as these are already included in their former Services sector of Motoring (now known as Vehicle Sales & Service)
